

FOUND HANGING FROM RAFTERS

$150,000 For What?

The proposed bond issue for $150,000 has become something of a precedent in fund gathering because it is still without reasonable explanation, its purpose yet undeclared.

As the matter stands the proposed issue is somewhere between a wild adventure into the unknown and a halting desire to seek a price on present properties. Because of this situation the election called for September 28th is one which the tax payers face without knowing how to cast ballots.

Does the city propose to buy the properties of the Water Company or put in its own system of competing utilities? In view of the statement of the Water Company that its properties are not for sale, have not been offered for sale and will not be sold for the amount of money involved in the proposed issue, it naturally appears that the question must be settled on next Tuesday on the basis of whether the tax payers desire to give the government a blanket indorsement with $150,000 to do as it deems advisable in the matter of setting up its own system of utilities.

Several questions are paramount. It is hardly necessary to say that the City would gravely imperil its resources if it undertook to compete with corporate utilities in Cameron, in any field. It is no secret that the City has cherished ambition to install a light and power system and went so far as to file application for government funds. With $150,000 at its disposal it could proceed to embrace both water and lights, with government aid, though such plants would be inadequate and doomed to failure by reason of competitive hazards.

The people should, and will, no doubt, vote against bonds for the purpose of putting the City into a business it knows nothing about, and whose field, at best is no place for governments.

Aside from the unthinkable adventure of competing utilities the matter is again open to serious question.

First counting the cost, is safe as well as a good Proverb.

Lets examine a theory in the case. If the City votes $150,000 in revenue bonds, they bear 5 per cent. If the issue is retired in 15 years the taxpayers will have paid out a total of $65,000 in interest. This would bring the cost up to $210,000. Notwithstanding the fact that no tax money appears to enter the transaction, it would be necessary and perfectly legal for the city to transfer funds from its general revenues for operation of the plant. If the City operated the plant as efficiently as the Company it would be required to pay near $30,000 the first year as follows: $10,000 in bonds and $7500 in interest plus $10,000 for salaries, power, labor and maintenance items. If a charge of 3 per cent is made for depreciation the total first year cost would be around $36,000. The present total gross revenue of the company is only $30,358.85.

This process would go on through the years. The City, at the end of the 15 year period would not owe for the plant. The last year payment on bonds and interest would be $11,000.

During 15 years the City would lose $25,500 in taxes now paid by the water company. This loss would never cease, but to get a picture of the whole matter the cost would now have mounted to $235,000 at the end of 15 years.

The county would lose around $18,000 in the 15 years. The combined total of taxes paid by the Water Company is $3,137.82 annually.

Depreciation would run not less than 3 per cent, a low figure. If this is computed over 15 years, although it would be a fixed annual charge, the average needed would be $4500 per year and in 15 years $67,500 would have to be absorbed in the operation as well as the ultimate cost.

This analysis fixes the grand total cost for the plant in 15 years, including the original purchase price, at $302,500.

It is doubtful if any circumstance would justify this venture. The City would never realize any appreciable profit from the system.

Revenue bearing bonds are saleable only because the government can pour its tax money into the upkeep and support of its utilities. If the bonds were dependent solely on revenue from plant operation investors would never take an issue of such securities.

Until, and unless, the City Council, takes the people into confidence on what it proposes to do, the only thing left for the tax payer is to go to the polls next Tuesday and vote against the bonds. If the issue has merit there appears no good reason why the information is not forthcoming. In the mean time: $150,000 for what?

Telephone Company Never Delinquent In Tax Payments

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., have never been delinquent in payment of taxes in Cameron. In the published news story last week it was said the company was protesting the 1936 taxes and a case was pending.

The error of this statement came about in the confusion of litigation filed against another utility firm together with protests lodged over increased values by all the companies except the water company.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., has never defaulted in payment of its taxes, although protests have been lodged with the Board of Equalization over increased values. As a usual thing the company pays in advance of due date to take advantage of the discount.

The gas company settled its tax account with the city by paying both the 1936 and 1937 taxes with a small deduction on the penalty and interest for the 1936 levy. The increase in valuation of the gas company was small. The Board increased values in the city around $100,000 with approximately half the amount being assessed against the Texas Power & Light Company.

Fire and Smoke Sale at Zalesky Store Friday

Zalesky's dry goods store opens here Friday at 9 a. m. with a water damage and smoke damage sale. The stocks were damaged in the fire that destroyed a portion of the upstairs of the building here last Tuesday night.

In the sale all stocks are sacrificed and Mr. Zalesky hopes to dispose of the goods within the next few days. He has placed a price on them that will insure their sale because bargains are the most pronounced in recent years.

YOEMEN WILL PLAY CALDWELL FRIDAY

Coach Wood will send his 1937 Yoemen into their first game of the season here Friday night against Caldwell.

Little is known about the Yoemen this year. Pre-season workouts indicated the coach had average material and if the team advanced with the ambitions of the coach the maroon would be visible somewhere in the colorful drama of the gridiron this fall.

Water Plant Here Is Not For Sale

The City of Cameron has neither asked for nor obtained a price on the properties of the Community Public Service Company, it was disclosed here Tuesday when representatives of the company reached Cameron.

"We came down to see about our investment here. We thought maybe the city had purchased it without our knowledge," said L. P. Raley, special representative of R. L. Bowen, President of the Company.

The company knew nothing of the bond election and in this issue makes the first public statement concerning the proposed election here on September 28.

The City Council has made no statement to indicate what the government plans to do with the money, whether it will buy or put in a competing system. In view of the statement of the Water Company, it is believed the city plans its own system.

No information is obtainable from the City, a situation without precedent in the history of Cameron, it was believed. Tax payers were divided sharply on the issue and many have expressed opposition to the issue of bonds because they do not know what the city proposed to do.

H. A. Magnusson, advertising manager for the company, was in the city Tuesday and placed the statement with newspapers here.

Council Hears Echo of Gas Company Tax Fight Here

The right of City Attorney Bill Morrison to compromise with the Community Natural Gas Company on payment of its 1937 taxes, was questioned before the city council Tuesday night when Alderman Sam McDermott called the Aldermen's attention to the fact that the company had paid $78.00 less than the full amount required to settle all due under the recent valuation hike.

Mr. McDermott said the amount docked from the suit was the amount necessary to pay on the increase made in the valuation of the company's properties here.

Recently the city paid an actuary to suggest values for the utilities here.

The protest of Mr. McDermott is still pending. He called for adjournment when it appeared the Council would approve settlement made by the city attorney. Mr. McDermott was apparently in the minority but hopes to obtain full settlement of the taxes due.

A business development of the week was the organization here of the Green Mutual Aid Association chartered by the state insurance department.

The association is owned by the Green Funeral Home in Cameron with Leland Green as President. Other officials are Leland Green, Jr., vice president; Carroll Green, Secretary; Herman Boedeker, vice president. Directors are: Leland Green, M. E. Ashley, Leland Green, Jr., W. R. Looney, Carroll Green, Herman Boedeker and Joe A. Slavik.

The Association writes a burial contract and not life insurance. Policies are made to care for all needs in burial expenses, as low as 5c per month.

Mr. Green reported this morning that he had already received a large number of applications.

In this issue will be found announcement of the Burial Association. It is chartered and bond has been posted with the state for the performance of all duties in connection with the administration of the Association.

Jesse Frances of Rosebud has accepted a position with the Green & Boedeker Stores here as bookkeeper.

Mr. Frances is an experienced man and will have charge of the books of this big store. Also he will take care of the books of the Green Funeral home for which a Burial Association has recently been organized.

Miss May Griffith, Mrs. C. M. Deadwyler and Clarence Sapp, Houston and Miss Mae Virginia Sutton of Bryan were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Griffith.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Kesterbaum have returned from a trip to Dallas.

ADOLPH JAHN DIES. WED.

The body of Adolph Jahn, 23 was found hanging from a rafter in the garage of his brother early Wednesday morning at Burlington.

He had been strangled to death with a small rope tied around his neck and reaching to the timbers. A verdict of suicide was rendered by B. G. Rice, Justice of the Peace.

The family lived on the Sam Rudder farm near Burlington. On Monday night fire destroyed the home and all contents, leaving the family without household goods or personal belongings. It was believed young Jahn who lived with his mother, was despondent over this loss.

The body was at the Green Funeral Home and burial will be made at Burlington at 9 a. m. Thursday with Rev. T. O'Sullivan of St. Michael's Catholic church officiating.

Jahn is survived by his mother and several brothers and sisters.

MONROE VOGELSANG PARALYSIS VICTIM

Death claimed Monroe Vogelsang, 24, at his home near Burlington, Friday morning at 3:30 o'clock after an illness of 10 days resulting from infantile paralysis.

Mr. Vogelsang was a prosperous young farmer of the Burlington community, where he was born and reared the son of Mrs. Tony Vogelsang and the late Fritz Vogelsang. Several years ago he was married to Miss Norene Kleypas, who with one child, Nancy Lee, survives. Mr. Vogelsang was a member of the Catholic church. He participated in activities of his community and was always popular.

Funeral services were conducted from the Catholic church at Burlington, Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. Tom O'Sullivan, pastor of the Burlington Catholic church, officiated. Burial was made in the Catholic cemetery. Members of the Burlington baseball club were pall bearers.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Tony Vogelsang, his wife and daughter, three brothers, Erwin, Eggo, Charlie and a sister, Mrs. Willie Mees all of the Burlington community.

Kemp and Paden also asked for the building of a trestle in the Little River bottom east of Cameron. The local Chamber of Commerce in 1936 requested the building of this trestle.

Loss Shown By Water Co. On 1936 Operation Here

Community Public Service Company operating the water utilities in Cameron showed a loss of $7000 on the business of 1936 according to sworn statement on file in the office of the county clerk.

Its gross income was $30,358.85 from the sale of water. It has no other source of income.

Total costs of operation charged to the Cameron franchise was $37,062.05. In the list of expenditures are two items, one for interest and the other for depreciation amounting to over $19,000. The company recently out from receivership is paying 5 per cent on its bonds and the interest is chargeable to the company franchise. The depreciation is the usual business charge up.

It is interesting to note that the company paid $5400 in salaries and $3657 for power to pump water. Miscellaneous expenses were in excess of $4500.

A large item chargeable to expense is taxes $3,137.82 representing the city and county levy. The smallest items chargeable was for advertising $11.00.

THE SPECIAL SESSION

(Editor's note: This article is published as a news item and represents the personal views of Mr. Ferguson only.)

While the awful crime wave is sweeping every part of the country; while the war clouds are hanging low in all the foreign nations; while the President is expressing his alarm at the danger of another world war; while labor troubles grow worse day by day and facism and communism among us, the Texas legislature is to meet in special session at the call of the Governor on September 27th to consider the levy of more taxes on the people. It is unfortunate, indeed, that this ever vexing question of tax revenues was not settled at the regular session. It looks like that the legislature makes the mistake every time it meets of considering immaterial and non important questions to the exclusion of the very important issue of taxes.

I sometimes think it would be a wise move to pass a constitutional amendment providing that no legislation except mileage and per diem should be considered until all revenue and taxation legislation is disposed of for the regular term. This would do away with most all special sessions and would force the legislature to consider the most important legislation that affects the welfare of the people.

It certainly would prevent a recurrence of just such a situation as now confronts this special session. While the discussion of the tax matters are yet respectful, it is quite apparent that there is already a lack of good feeling between the Governor and the legislature, and everybody is expecting a cat and parrot scrap, before the session hardly gets started. The Governor and the tax leaders in the Senate seem to be set in their ways, and the poor tax payer is holding his breath and wondering just where the tax operation will begin.

Unfortunately there is not yet developed any leadership for the against the levy of additional revenues. Nobody is even mentioning the reduction of appropriations or present revenues. Verily, verily, there is no relief in sight for the taxpayers until there is a change in administration and the tax spender is riding high and the backs of the people are bending low under the load.

With only thirty days for a special session do not look for the legislature to finish its labors in so short a time. The people need not be surprised if we see a second call session.

We hear much about the collection of delinquent taxes. I think that most everybody that is able have paid their taxes and so now, when the depression is still on us, institute arbitrary and oppressive litigation in the courts would do more harm than good, and it ought not to be done. It would not collect very much delinquent taxes and it would persecute and humiliate many people who will pay as soon as they can.

The legislature passed one good law, but by its terms it expired on September 1st. This law provided that delinquent taxes could be paid in equal installments extending over a period of twenty months. Many people would have taken the opportunity had they known such a law was in force. But the advantage of this law ended on September first. The legislature should by all means reenact this law and give the people until January first, 1938, to begin making payments in installments.

But watch the Governor and the legislature. Maybe an irresistible force will meet an immovable object.

"BANKERS' HOURS"

...Are Not What They Seem to Be

Many people think that a banker's day starts late and ends early—that a banker spends very little time in actual banking. These people have no conception of the tremendous amount of labor necessary to keep the bank's affairs in the absolutely balanced state that they must be. Millions of clerical operations keep the bank's business in perfect order, night and day—and they are mostly done after the doors have been closed for the day. And then think of the constant 24-hour guard the bank keeps on your money— as efficient as if a cordon of police surrounded it by night and day. No, bankers' hours are not easy hours. They are the long hours needed to build up an institution to which you can point with pride and say "MY bank!"

Wilbur Shaw Shatters All Speedway Records

In the fastest and closest race in the 25 year history of the Indianapolis Speedway, Wilbur Shaw shattered all records when he finished first in the 1937 contest. Driving the long 500 miles without relief and at an average speed of 113 miles an hour, Shaw's average was 4 1-2 miles per hour faster than the record set in 1936.

Shaw's racing history is a splendid example of daring courage mingled with persistence. He took fourth place in the Indianapolis event in 1927, was second place winner in 1933 and also second place winner in 1935. At no time in the 1937 race was he ever worse than third place, his consistent driving keeping him constantly at the head of the pack of thirty-three race entries. He finished the 500 miles in 4 hours, 24 minutes and ahead of his closest opponent—a new record for American Speedways.

It is interesting to note that this great King of the Speedway, with his stamina and nerve, selects breakfast of great Americans, Quaker Oats. A hot Quaker Oats breakfast with plenty of sugar and cream is the choice of many who have to guard their nerves and digestion with Vitamin B foods.

There's more time left for other jobs—more hours to live!

There are two "70's"—one operating most economically on 70 octane gasoline—and the other on kerosene or distillate—neither a combination make-shift. Come in and see these sensational new Row Crop "70's"—with a complete line of mounted listing, busting, planting and cultivating equipment.

Herald Gets Dallas Customer for Green's Store

It not only covers the immediate trade area on Thursday but the Wednesday night mailing insures spot coverage on publication date. The Herald is the only Cameron newspaper to get to its readers on time.

In Memoriam

Mrs. Lula Majors was one of the dearest, sweetest, most devoted Christians that it has ever been my privilege and joy to know and have associated with. She was a faithful member of the Methodist church in which she served her Lord as He would have her to serve. Of late years she had been unable to take an active part but was always overjoyed when a Christian would talk with her conversing the Lord and His Salvation. She was confident that her Lord could and would redeem her and looked expectantly toward the day when He would call. Her deepest joy was involved in spiritual matters pertaining to God and His grace.

When you felt depressed a conversation with Mrs. Majors always straightened things out and made the sun shine again. Always she had a word of encouragement and a spiritual uplift that more than accounted for any depressed spirit. Her association with God was enough to make you feel as tho you had been closer to God than ever before.

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them." This scripture gives a very beautiful picture of Mrs. Majors as it shows that God blessed His saints who die in Him and that they go to eternal rest where the rewards which have accrued to them are bestowed upon them.

I would add this personal word. Mrs. Majors, many times, inspired and lifted me and drew me nearer my God by her deep relation to God. She has helped me immeasurably and I thank God that I knew her and counted her as my friend.

Show

Brooke

A perfect example of his concept, proved at the box-offices again and again, that entertainment in its strictest form is the most successful, "You Can't Have Everything" is a swiftly-paced show in Darryl F. Zanuck's best manner. Every entertainment element finds its ideal niche in the gay screen play by Harry Tugend, Jack Yellen and Karl Tunberg, adapted from an original story by Gregory Ratoff.

Rubioff's facile violin starts the story off on a mad, musical career by serving to introduce Alice Faye, a hopeful young playwright penniless in New York, to Don Ameche, successful author of bright and fragile musical comedies. Currently appearing in Ameche's latest show are the Ritz Brothers and Louise Hovick, the latter an exciting new personality making her first screen appearance.

To further his romantic aims, Ameche has Charles Winninger, his producer, buy Miss Faye's tragedy, which the Ritz Brothers proceed to adapt, with considerable blue-pencilling, into a rowdy farce.

A steady round of singing, dancing and comedy intersperses the light action to produce a well-rounded gem of fun and amusement. Norman Taurog directed, with Laurence Schwab as associate producer.

Plan School Pilgrimage to Exposition

L. A. Woods, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, visited the Pan American Exposition in Dallas last week, with members of his staff, and joined with Exposition officials in outlining plans to bring 500,000 Texas school children to the World's Fair before its close October 31. Railroads are running scores of special trains for school children and the movement will also be by automobile and bus. "The public schools of Texas should make the Pan American Exposition a field event this year," Superintendent Woods (right) tells Assistant Director General Frank N. Watson.

ITS

Renewal Time

Hundreds of subscribers to The Herald are renewable in September and October. In many instances these dates were made at this time because rural readers prefer their obligations to mature in the fall.

The average of paid subscriptions during the summer months has been the highest in the history of The Herald. Its reader list is at an all time high and still growing. Rates within reach of all together with the quality of its news columns makes it inevitably the leader.

The Herald is not in the 'ordianry class' with ear marks of nondescript editorial blunderings. It is a newspaper whose destiny has always been guided by experienced publishers and intelligent writers who know what is news and how to write it.

Upsurgings of kid philosophy and amateurish fomenters are entirely absent from The Herald. Its news columns are free from the distasteful opinions of half baked ideas and poorly devised rhetoric, superinduced only by those whose falterings come from distorted ambitions.

The Herald overcomes prejudice, reprisals and boycotts to bring you the news. It prints everything fit to print whether you like it or not. That's why they say: "The Herald prints the news INTELLIGENTLY." Written and printed so you can understand it.

Subscription lists will be revised next week. If you do not get your copy you will know your subscription has expired.

Cameron May Be Named Center For Extension Study

Cameron will probably be named for the location of a center for extension studies to be established in the near future by Southwest Texas Teachers College, according to a statement today by J. R. Buckner, Chairman of the Extension Department.

These extension centers, which will be located in a number of Central Texas Cities, are being established by the College to enable teachers and others who are interested to do College work. Any courses which are in demand will be offered including at least six hours work toward a Master's degree, Buckner said.

Buckner announced also that residence extension courses which are conducted on the campus at San Marcos on Saturdays will be offered as usual with additional courses listed in advance education, English, history and physical education.

Knights Pythias Hear Cleburne Knight

A meeting both educational and entertaining was held here on Monday night by the Knights of Pythias.

W. T. Bradbury of Cleburne, director of the K. of P. Orphan's home at Weatherford was the principal speaker. His talk was mainly on the orphan's home. Weylon C. Frasier, Grand Vice Chancellor from Waco made a report on the progress of the K. of P. lodges of Texas. Mr. Bradbury and Mr. Frasier were introduced by M. G. Cox.

Short talks were made by Albert Collins of Cameron, district deputy grand chancellor, Rev. J. Coy Williams, pastor of the local Methodist church and Rev. J. P. Love, pastor of the local Episcopal church. A report on the scout troop which is being sponsored by the local K. of P. lodge was made by Rev. Maurice Grove, pastor of the Christian church.

Games were enjoyed and refreshments of ice cream and cake served.

Bradbury Sale Hits Spotlight In Far Away Michingan Town

"Response to the advertising I placed in your newspaper was beyond all expectations," said C. W. Bradbury, now closing out his stock of merchandise in Cameron.

"I even sold a suit of clothes in Ann Harbor, Michigan," he said in talking with a Herald representative. Checking up on the reader list it was found that the Herald goes to that distant point and a reader there bought the clothing through advertising in The Herald.

Following up Mr. Bradbury again bought into the columns of this paper last week end and the results were more than satisfactory. The sale at the Bradbury store is powerful appeal within its own sphere of value giving. Merchandise is being sacrificed because Mr. Bradbury is retiring from business. He will continue the sale until all the merchandise has been closed out.

Mrs. Bob Roberts, of McGregor was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Wood last week.

The Prudential Insurance Co. of America

An Open Letter To The Citizens of Cameron Regarding The Proposed $150,000 Bond Issue

Much to our surprise, we learned recently through our manager and through newspaper accounts that the good citizens of Cameron are being asked to vote bonds in the sum of $150,000 for the purpose of buying our water system or, failing in this, to build a competitive system.

We think that the people should know that none of the city officials of Cameron has approached this company with an offer to buy our system in connection with the proposed bond issue nor has any official of the city entered into any negotiations with us about it.

Furthermore, to correct an apparent misunderstanding on the part of many citizens of Cameron, we wish to state that our water system here has not been on the market nor have we made any effort to sell it.

As a citizen of Cameron, our Company has shouldered its share of local taxes, having paid $1710.00 to the city and $1039.72 to the county in 1936, which taxes, incidentally, would have had to come from other local taxpayers if the plant were municipally owned. We have tried at all times to render the best of service to our customers and we shall continue to do so.

The bond issue proposal has come to us out of a clear sky and we want the people of Cameron to know that we have not entered into any negotiations with the city officials of Cameron and we have not offered our property for sale to the City of Cameron or to anyone else.

Marble Machines Banned in County

Marble machines were carted out of business houses and roadside stores over Milam county Thursday and Friday following a 24 hour warning from the Grand Jury.

Among the few counties in Texas where machines were permitted to operate, Milam has at last joined the ranks of the majority to place under band these machines. Just how long they will be out of operation here, cannot be determined.

Operators were not ready to announce plans for their properties into which they had invested thousands of dollars in taxes, paid to the county for the privilege of operating.

Whether these owners would ask a return of the money is not known. Consensus of opinion is the machine owners would be entitled to a measure of protection on the investments they made in tax payments, but is was not regarded as likely any refunds will be made.

The whole controversy has raged for months in Texas. While permitted in many counties their sphere of operation has been gradually circumscribed. Reform against so called gambling devices has been characterized by spasmodic forays. Some of the machines banned in Milam found places in Bell county across the line where they are still in operation.

An early attempt here to ban the machines was met with an injunction in District Court at Groesbeck which was later made permanent and the machines were operated unmolested for more than a year.

In the closing minutes of the Grand Jury Session here the body incorporated into its report the following: "Be it resolved that all operators of marble tables and other gambling devices be notified to remove said machines and devices within 48 hours from 6 p. m. September 15, and the several peace officers of this county be required to report on this situation to the Grand Jury."

Balderston and Wells Root based on Edward Rose's dramatization of the Anthony Hope novel. Miss Carroll plays the beautiful Princess Flavia and young Fairbanks is seen as the dashing Rupert of Hentzau.

Also prominently featured in the cast are Mary Astor, C. Aubrey Smith, Raymond Massey and David Niven.

The 62 sets, ranging in size from a sentry box to a cathedral, were designed by Lyle Wheeler, the costumes were created by Ernst Dryden, the photography is the work of James Wong Howe, and the musical score was arranged by Alford Newman.
